

Two cases could determine fate

Ohio's voter registration law pondered by supreme court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has taken under consideration a pair of cases which could determine the fate of the state's new election day voter registration law.

In one case, a group called Ohioans for Preservation of Honest Elections asked the court Friday to force Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to certify their petition summaries so it can proceed with a drive to repeal the law on the November ballot. Brown last week ruled that the summaries were defective.

In the other case, majority Democratic leaders in the legislature requested the court, controlled 4-3 by Democrats, to force GOP Secretary of State Ted W. Brown to put the law into effect immediately.

Brown assigned a 90-day effective date, which put it in late August, after giving immediate effect to an appropriations section of the same legislation. Appropriations bills take immediate effect, but the secretary said that particular part of the pact was separable from four other sections providing instant registration and a number of statute changes making it easier for Ohioans to register and vote.

Appropriations bills are not subject to a voter referendum, a point stressed before the court by Columbus attorney David Young, who represented House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron.

However, another Columbus lawyer, William L. Schmidt, counsel for the secretary of state, said his client was within his legal authority in dividing the bill.

Both attorneys cited earlier Supreme Court decisions to boost their own cases, but claimed cases cited by their opponents were not applicable to the current litigation.

Young told the court that "very simply, the question before this court is, 'does the secretary of state have the right to block the effective date of legislation enacted by the General Assembly of the State Of Ohio?'"

Schmidt told the court a decision holding that the substantive part of the bill was not subject to a referendum would deprive the people of their constitutional rights.

The constitution, he added, gives the legislature the power to enact laws but "makes it clear that the people have reserved the right of referendum."

In the petition case, Robert E. Leach, counsel for Jean Barren of Steubenville, Jefferson County GOP election board member, and others, argued that Atty. Gen. Brown had no right to reject petition summaries, and in arbitrarily doing so has already "cost us nine days" of the petition drive.

Some justices said they agreed that the attorney general, a Democrat, might have exceeded his authority in deciding, on his own, that the law is an appropriations measure not subject to referendum.

"I do not believe the attorney general had the right to make that determination," said Justice Frank D. Celebrezze.

The court did not indicate when it would rule, but indicated it would move quickly in the petition case.

'Gee, I'd join the Navy'

World War I pin-up girl recalls old days on recruiting poster

SEQUIM, Wash. (AP) — She was the first pin-up girl, a lass of 20, who in 1917 donned a blue jacket and jaunty sailor's cap to pose for a winsome recruiting poster.

"Gee!! I Wish I Were a Man. I'd Join the Navy," read the poster, and thousands of young men responded.

Ten days after she posed, Bernice Smith joined the Navy herself, keeping alive the unbroken string of wars — starting with the Revolutionary War — in which members of her family had served. Others have since served through Vietnam.

"Things have changed so much now," said Bernice Tongate, now a widow, as she looked forward to Independence Day.

"Things don't mean what they used to. I think our country is the only one I'd like to live in, but we make mistakes.

None of us is perfect.

"If you don't make mistakes, then you're six feet under and pushing up the daisies," she said in an interview Friday.

But in 1917, her only thoughts were of helping the country defend itself in a foreign war. The historic recruiting poster is her pride.

"I would have liked it better if (the artist) had put that cap on my head in a different manner," said Mrs. Tongate, 80, of the drawing by Howard Chandler Christy.

"That certainly was not regulation. I wouldn't have worn it to the office like that, I'll tell you."

Mrs. Tongate was a Los Angeles office worker riding to work on a streetcar when she read in a newspaper about the Navy's recruiting women.

She rushed to the nearest recruiting office. Presenting the newspaper, she demanded enlistment.

Recruiters went to their commanding officer, paper in hand. Mrs. Tongate followed behind a civilian, Christy, who was in the office.

"Captain, there's a girl here who wants to join the Navy. If you will get a hat, blouse and a pair of pants, I'll make a poster that will turn this town upside down," Christy told the officer.

"If I was a man, I would join the Navy," Mrs. Tongate remembers telling the men. "This is the first time our family has never been represented in a war, and you've just got to take me."

"I was a nervy little brat," she added.

The poster was drawn the same day and Bernice Smith soon afterwards became the first woman in California to enlist. She served until May 1920, earning chief petty officer's stripes as a yeoman.

Rejected by the Navy and Marines for service during World War II — "They said I was too old" — Mrs. Tongate joined the Army, serving in military postal facilities at Battle Creek, Mich., and Riverside, Calif.

Two grandsons served in Vietnam, one in the Army and one in the Navy. —

Nazi march becoming less likely

CHICAGO (AP) — Less than 100 delegates are expected to attend a national Nazi convention here today to decide whether to march in a heavily Jewish suburb on Independence Day despite numerous legal roadblocks.

"Chances are diminishing" that Nazis will march in Skokie, says Frank Collin, 32, national coordinator of the National Socialist Congress.

A state court has issued an injunction prohibiting the march. But the U.S. Supreme Court has said the injunction must be reviewed immediately or vacated. The Illinois Appellate Court has scheduled a hearing in the case for July 8.

Other legal roadblocks include three ordinances recently passed by the Skokie village board that prohibit members of a political party from marching in military uniforms.

"Our ACLU attorneys assure us we'll win in court eventually, so there's probably no need to do something that will get us arrested. I hoped to hold the march while we have party members from across the country, but we may just have to wait until later," Collin said.

The convention will be held in a two-story brick building on the city's South Side.

Governor promises to seek assistance for Ohio storm area

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes inspected tornado-damaged sections of Fremont Friday and pledged to help try to obtain financial aid for cleanup work and repair of homes, public buildings and businesses.

The governor said he would seek to have Sandusky County declared a disaster area after an assessment of the damage is completed.

"You're gonna get help," Rhodes told officials after touring this city of 18,000 and surrounding area, which suffered an estimate $8 million to $10 million damage from the Thursday night storm.

"It's bad. Yes, the city's going to have a big debt," the governor observed.

Rhodes called a meeting of state disaster services personnel, local leaders and federal officials in the Fremont City Hall this morning to set a firm damage estimate for an application for federal disaster assistance.

Suffering the heaviest damage in the storm, estimated at between $2 million and $4 million, was the Sandusky County Home, which lost its roof and received severe water damage from a damaged sprinkler system. Residents had to be evacuated and officials said it will be several months before the home can be reopened.

National Guard troops sent here by Rhodes remained on duty helping with cleanup efforts.

The storm struck suddenly, tearing off roofs, uprooting trees and blowing out windows. Miraculously, there was only one serious injury.

Henry Howard described the scene when the storm hit while he was working in his grocery store.

"All of a sudden the front windows blew out and there was a terrible suction. The windows bowed in at first and then the suction popped them out. A terrible back draft sucked back through the store."

Howard estimated there were 50 to 75 customers in the store when the twister ripped through town shortly after suppertime.

"It could have been worse and we're thanking God it wasn't. We got hit hard, but we've got a lot of blessings to count," Fremont Mayor Richard Maier said, noting the city was lucky the funnel cloud never hit the ground. Witnesses said it did its damage skipping across rooftops.

African summit meet eyes minority rule

LIBREVILLE, Gabon (AP) — African leaders open a four-day summit here today, sharply divided along ideological lines and agreeing only that white minority rule must be driven from the continent.

The 49-nation Organization of African Unity is split between a moderate Western majority and a militant "anti-imperialist" minority, and is plagued by local territorial disputes.

Despite a call from Gabon's pro-Western President Albert Bernard Bongo last week for a summit to "talk about what unites us," delegation sources said the best the gathering could hope for was agreement to sweep most controversial issues under the rug.

African leaders all want an end to white rule in Rhodesia, South-West Africa and, ultimately, South Africa. But they disagree over which of two Rhodesian nationalist groups to support with military, financial and diplomatic assistance.

At a news conference Friday, the leader of one of the groups, Joshua Nkomo, head of the Marxist-oriented Patriotic Front, ruled out any compromise with Bishop Abel Muzorewa, leader of the more moderate African National Council. Nkomo described the bishop as a "clerical liar."

Rhodesia and South Africa are not members of the organization.

Another tough issue facing delegates is the dispute between Algeria and Morocco over the former Spanish Sahara.

Morocco and its ally, Mauritania, have partitioned the mineral-rich territory but Algeria is backing a Marxist guerrilla movement, the Polisario Front, fighting for an independent Sahara state.

Several African nations plan to use the summit to bring complaints of aggression or subversion against their neighbors. They include Kenya, charging an invasion by thousands of Somalis last weekend, and Chad, complaining of Libya's military takeover of 45,000 square miles of territory in northern Chad in 1973.

OAU spokesman Peter Onu said more than 20 heads of state or chiefs of government were expected to take part at OAU's 14th annual summit, the most in five years. Among those present were Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt, Jaafar el Numairi of Sudan and William Tolbert of Liberia.

Price of stamps to increase 2 cents

Postal Service to raise rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service still plans to raise rates next year, even though it's in its best financial shape ever.

Next week, the Postal Service board of governors is expected to propose increasing the first-class letter rate from 13 cents to 15 or 16 cents early in 1978.

The agency, while making "real progress," still lost $50 million in the last 12 months, says Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar.

Bailar said Friday that the operating loss was drastically lower than the previous year's record $1.2 billion and below the Postal Service's $500 million average annual deficit.

The postmaster general said the agency's financial condition is better than at any time since the 1971 reorganization made it substantially independent of Congress and the president.

But he added that because "inflation continues to plague the Postal Service," steps must be taken soon to increase rates next year.

Bailar said the agency, under existing labor agreements, must soon pay raises to most of its workers. And other cost increases, such as for fuel, are inevitable, he said.

Last year Bailar testified before a Senate committee that the Postal Service was in such financial peril that it could become insolvent within a year.

He said that when the new rates take effect early next year, over two years will have passed since the last increase in first-class rates.

Postage increases, once proposed by the board of governors, need be approved only by the Postal Rate Commission.

At one time officials had expected to lose about $1 billion in the year ended June 30.

The financial picture improved after Bailar ordered that many job vacancies be filled by transferring workers not needed in their present posts, rather than by hiring new employees.

This policy, which has sparked controversy with the postal unions, has reduced the work force to 657,000 people, some 84,000 less than before the 1971 reorganization.

The postmaster general contended this reduction has not hurt service, a view disputed by the unions, many congressmen and others.

Bailar said Postal Service statistics show that on-time delivery was as frequent in the last 12 months as at any time during the six years.

"The Postal Service delivered 96 per cent of mail eligible for overnight delivery on time and 94 per cent of mail designated for second- and third-day delivery," he said.

Bond hearing set for alleged abductor

Girl Scout, parents in seclusion

SARASOTA, Fla. — Charlotte Grosse, 15, who was dragged screaming from a Girl Scout tent, has left town with her parents after escaping from a man she says bound and sexually abused her during the 52 hours he held her captive.

"They need to get their lives back together," a detective from the Sarasota County Sheriff's office said Friday, declining to release details of the family's whereabouts.

A bond hearing was set today for Wilfred "Rusty" Bannister, 33, who is being held on state kidnapping and involuntary sexual battery charges in the Wednesday morning abduction.

Bannister, a former Alaskan pipeline worker, is accused of dragging Charlotte by the hair away from a Girl Scout campsite in a remote state park. Charlotte was reunited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grosse of Nokomis, Friday morning after she escaped from Bannister's $61,000 island home on Siesta Key.

The teen-ager apparently had been held at the two-story house since Wednesday. She left the house only twice, police said, both times accompanied by Bannister.

Her captor permitted her to call her parents Wednesday night from a public phone booth in Bradenton. Later, a detective said, Bannister drove Charlotte to a cow pasture where he apparently talked about taking her to another state to live.

A spokesman said Bannister wanted the girl to trust him and not run away.

Early Friday, Charlotte, who had been bound naked to a bed, was able to free herself while Bannister was out getting gasoline for his sports car, police said.

They said she called her father who instructed her to grab something to wear and get out of the house. Police, who monitored the call, said she gave her father the address of Bannister's home.

Charlotte fled through a window and ran next door to the home of Julie Rosell, who said later the girl told her that she had been sexually abused, beaten and tied to the shower. The Grossees were called again.

"I gave her water, clothes and a hug," said Mrs. Rosell. She said Charlotte was wearing only a T-shirt when she came screaming through her kitchen door shouting, "I need a telephone, I've been kidnapped."

Within minutes police picked up Bannister at his home.

Mrs. Rosell, who moved next door to Bannister two months ago, said he had been acting strangely the past few days, keeping to himself and doing yardwork with a machete.

Other neighbors said Bannister had lived in the house for about six months after spending two summers working on the pipeline.

U.S. won't yield arms advantage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown says any U.S.-Soviet agreement to reduce nuclear arsenals must not interfere with American plans to deploy the cruise missile on strategic bombers.

Brown did not rule out imposition of any curbs on the cruise missile, but said "the constraints we accept must not harm our strategic capability."

The United States has proposed a 1,500-mile range for the air-launched cruise missile, putting it well within striking distance of all important Soviet targets.

"There's no agreement on (the range), but now we're going ahead with it," Brown said at a news conference Friday. He said the United States must "assure that our position on the cruise missiles in Strategic Arms Limitation Talks does not interfere in any serious way with our plans for the incorporation of cruise missiles into the strategic bomber force."

The official Soviet news agency Tass said President Carter's decision to deploy the cruise missile and halt production of the B1 bomber "seriously complicates efforts for the limitation of the strategic arms race."

The United States is believed to be at least five years ahead of the Soviets in developing the cruise, which essentially is a small, pilotless jet plane that can carry either nuclear or conventional warheads. The missile, only 14 feet long and two feet wide, presents a tiny image to radar screens, thus posing serious problems to any adversary.

The B1, which would have cost $101.7 million a plane, would have been a good buy if it had been 30 per cent cheaper, Brown said. Carter's decision to scrap the B1 and arm the existing fleet of B52 bombers with cruise missiles will save "many billions of dollars," Brown said.

The Pentagon is considering the possibility of buying wide bodied planes such as the DC10 and 747 to carry cruise missiles at a cost of $10 million to $50 million apiece, Brown said. Each cruise missile will cost upwards of $750,000, but even so, he added, that will be far less than the B1.

The secretary said that the B52 fleet, already 20-25 years old, will be able to penetrate Soviet defenses effectively into the late 1980s.

Neutron warhead debate to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate battle over the neutron bomb will continue after the July 4th recess, but backers of the weapon, which would kill people but leave buildings standing, are confident of victory.

After a secret session that lasted almost three hours, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., predicted Friday that the Senate will approve money for the bomb but will give Congress veto power over any presidential decision to use it.

That was the compromise Stennis and his allies are fighting for.

Supporters of the bomb won two key votes by narrow margins, but decided in the face of a threatened filibuster that they would not press for final action.

Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said he did not expect the filibuster to resume when the recess ends July 11.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., who led the fight against appropriating any money in the 1978 fiscal year for the weapon, said the five-hour debate "made history" despite its inconclusive outcome.

"Most new weapons systems have been approved in the past by rather rapid action," Hatfield said. "But the magnitude of this system and this warhead were of such great concern to the Senate that it could not reach a final decision."

The weapon, known as the enhanced radiation neutron warhead, relies mainly on radiation for its effect. It is designed to produce relatively little blast and heat.

Its supporters say this means its lethal effect can be concentrated on enemy soldiers, sparing buildings and other weapons. Its opponents say using it could start a process that would escalate into full-scale nuclear war.

President Carter has not made a decision on the proposal, which was first sent to Congress by his predecessor, Gerald Ford.

HEW fight affects Lima schools

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Opponents of a U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare threat to cut off federal funds to Lima schools because of alleged segregation may find help in a funding proposal pending in Congress.

The legislation is designed to limit HEW's authority to cut off funds in desegregation cases and could have a direct effect on the Lima case.

Earlier this week the Senate passed an amendment to a $60.7 billion appropriations bill for the departments of Labor and HEW limiting HEW's power to withhold federal funds as a method of forcing desegregation.

The bill was similar to a measure adopted earlier by the House and now is in a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences in the bills.

The amendment prohibits the withholding of federal funds from school districts that refuse to use clustering, pairing or merging of schools to desegregate them.

Clustering and pairing have been mentioned as possible solutions in the Lima case.

School districts such as Lima whose cases are handled through HEW administrative proceedings would be affected if the amendment is not altered. An aide to Rep. Tennyson Guyer, R-Ohio, said Friday that he thought the measure would become law.

Officials at HEW said they do not yet understand what effect the legislation will have, but one official said it probably would hamper the Office of Civil Rights, an HEW division, in its attempts to end desegregation without action by federal courts.

Country music star 'just getting started'

By JOE EDWARDS

Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — After 35 albums, 50 singles and a barrage of awards, Bill Anderson says: "I'm just getting started."

Anderson is approaching his 20th year as a country music star, making him one of the most enduring in the business, even at 39. When he got his start by writing "City Lights" for Ray Price in 1958, Loretta Lynn was using a washboard, cooking on a wood stove and dreaming of a career. Waylon Jennings was a disc jockey in Lubbock, Tex.

"I've had people ask me about doing a book," Anderson said in an interview at his office against a background of framed awards. "I tell them to wait until I do something. What I'm going to do is still to be done. I'm just getting started."

Some thought Anderson, like Dolly Parton, might be reaching for the pop market when his record company issued this recent statement:

"I don't like fences — fences keep some things in, and at the same time, keep other things out. I never liked it when people looked at Bill Anderson and saw him inside a little box — all clearly defined, neatly categorized and labeled. I like to be free — in my thinking, my writing, my music."

"Country music is freer to be itself today than it's ever been because country is everything today from John Denver and Olivia Newton-John to Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings — from Bill Monroe to Bill Anderson."

Like Miss Parton, Anderson also has changed bands, hiring a young group whose oldest member is 27. But his music remains country and he plans to keep it that way.

"I'm trying to stay up-to-date within a country music framework," he explained. "We had a basic sound for 13 years, and I wanted to have a different approach. So I hired a young group and changed the instrumentation. But we can do the old songs the same way."

Regardless of his sound, he's at the forefront in the amount of unprecedented television exposure given to country music singers.

He's appeared on the daytime game shows "Match Game" and "Tattletales" and has co-hosted a pilot for ABC, "The Better Sex," a battle of the sexes in trivia.

"I had no idea of the number of people who watched game shows who are the same people who are country music fans," he said. "I'll go out to perform after doing a game show, and the number of people who say they saw me on television is unbelievable."

Fifteen years ago, such exposure wasn't available to country performers.

"Glen Campbell and Johnny Cash, who've had network exposure, have shown people we're not a bunch of hicks," Anderson said. "I'd like more television exposure — game shows, talk shows. It allows people to see another side of me."

Ohio starts year in black

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Budget and Management Director William W. Wilkins said Friday that Ohio started its new fiscal year $13.1 million in the black.

Because of the small cushion, Wilkins said Gov. James A. Rhodes' spending cuts—which he claimed saved $130 million—were justified.

In signing the new budget, Rhodes indicated he was satisfied that the legislature had presented him with a balanced spending plan. Consequently, he is not expected to impose restraints, similar to the 2 per cent cut he ordered two years ago.

Wilkins, the governor's chief fiscal officer, said the state government balance sheet showed $100.6 million in assets as the fiscal year closed, and

Mrs. Frances Trollope, an Englishwoman, published her Domestic Manners of the Americans in 1832, expressing her likes and dislikes of Ohioans.—AP

Fayette County school board to study budget, resignations

The Fayette County Board of Education will meet in regular session Tuesday to consider a lengthy agenda including the adoption of a tentative budget for 1978.

Another board meeting is expected to be scheduled July 15 to adopt a final annual budget within the state's deadline.

A number of resignations and hirings of teachers will also be discussed at Tuesday night's meeting.

Among the district teachers submitting resignations are Charles Andrews, a vocational-agriculture teacher at Miami Trace High School; Mrs. Penny Brady, principal-teacher at Jasper Elementary School; and David Rossman, a teacher at Bloomingburg Elementary School and an assistant football and track coach at the high school.

Also submitting resignations for board approval are Mrs. Karen Seltzer, teacher at Wayne Elementary School; Mrs. Peggy Daugherty, also a teacher at Wayne; and Mrs. Linda Hyer, a Title I teacher at New Holland Elementary School.

Heading the list of teachers recommended for employment is John Schmoll from West Lafayette. He is recommended to replace Aaron Spaulding as the high school band director and music teacher. Schmoll has been band director at Ridgewood High School in Coshocton. Spaulding resigned the position earlier this year.

Also on the list of prospective employees is Terry Enochs as a education and health teacher. He is also recommended for a varsity football assistant coaching position.

The board meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the offices of the superintendent, 414 Court St.

Adoption subsidies considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter Administration is considering a plan that would give subsidies to people who adopt hard-to-place children.

The plan has gained added attention within the administration since the Supreme Court this week gave the government approval to halt the use of Medicaid money for abortions.

A spokeswoman for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the department has not yet developed adoption subsidy legislation, but that HEW Secretary Joseph Califano Jr. has ordered the issue "thoroughly explored."

Califano is using a bill introduced by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., as a guide.

That bill calls for the $700 million a year now being spent by the federal government on foster care to be used for adoption subsidies. Hard-to-place children include those who are older, mentally or physically impaired or of mixed racial background.

Califano told reporters this week that Carter directed him at a meeting several weeks ago to draft legislation for a subsidy adoption proposal.

"We are literally working on a proposal now," Califano said. "The question is, can we find a way to provide the funds without creating a whole big bureaucracy and also preserve accountability?"

Califano told reporters that the subsidy plan would be ready in several weeks when administration representatives testify before the Senate on proposed changes in Social Security.

Agronomy Day slated July 7 at Wooster

By JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent
Ohio Agronomy Day is scheduled for this Thursday at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center's Agronomy Research Unit, on Ohio 250 SE of Wooster.

The field day gets underway with registration from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. Tours of agronomy research plots will be conducted from 9:45 a.m. to 12 noon. Morning tours will include soil fertility, minimum tillage, relay and double cropping, winter pasture, corn and soybean breeding, alfalfa and wheat research projects.

Afternoon tours will include no-tillage weed control and the plananalysis and soil testing laboratory.

An Agronomy Day Information Center will be open near the registration area from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Extension and research specialists will be on hand to visit individually with farmers about weed control, crop drying, corn and soybean performance trials, pest management, and other crop production problems. Farmers and others planning to attend should give me a call at the Extension Office and we can assist in pooling transportation.

NEXT WEEK would be a good time to check corn fields for the presents of northern corn rootworms. Bill Blair, Extension Entomologist and I checked several corn fields in the county last week. Northern corn rootworms were present in all six but most of them still fairly small. Damage and worms will both be easier to find next week.

To find worms, take a square foot of soil (one corn plant in the center) about 5 inches deep and examine the soil and corn roots. In dry soil, worms may be in roots. In moist soil, both in soil and roots.

Five plants checked at different locations in continuous corn will give you a good idea of how well your insecticide worked this year.

THE 1977 Yorkshire Summer Type

Conference is going to be held in the Swine Arena at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in Columbus on July 13, 14 and 15. Entries have been made by over 100 breeders from 25 states. Thursday, July 14 will be show day. The National Sale of Yorkshire breeding stock will be at 11 a.m. on Friday, July 15.

FRIDAY AUGUST 5 has been set for the Annual Fayette County Cattlemen's Summer Roundup. Tickets for the event will be on sale soon. The location will be at the Sam Marting farm again this year.

Cattlemen and dairymen who registered for the beef referendum will begin voting Tuesday. The vote runs through July 15. Only those who registered earlier this month are eligible to vote.

Montgomery to head Farm Bureau post

Laurel Montgomery, 4267 Snow Hill Road, has been appointed policy development chairman for 1977, Wayne King, Fayette County Farm Bureau president announced.

Mrs. Montgomery, who has served in many capacities in Farm Bureau, is presently serving as one of the four ladies-at-large on the local farm bureau board.

The purpose of the policy development committee is to review the policy recommendation on the local, state and national level sent in by each farm bureau council in the county and submit the policy to the Fayette County Farm Bureau annual meeting in September.

When the policy is adopted on the county level, it is forwarded to the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation for consideration and the OFBF sends their policy to the American Farm Bureau Federation. All Farm Bureau policy is originated on the county level.

Mrs. Montgomery stated that any Farm Bureau members who have any recommendations should call the Farm Bureau office at 335-6410 or write to P.O. Box 339, Washington C.H.

Tsetse fly fight to aid cattlemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — An African land mass that's larger than the United States could be opened for cattle production if tests for controlling the deadly tsetse fly are successful, according to the Agriculture Department. Control of the insect would not make Africa a leading exporter of meat. But the implications for future development are as gigantic as the area itself, the department said.

The project is described in the current issue of "Farm Index" published by USDA's Economic Research Service. Tsetse flies are carriers of sleeping sickness, which for centuries has killed humans and animals in most of Africa south of the Sahara.

Sponsored by the U.S. Agency for International Development, the project involves USDA scientists and others who are attempting to use sterile male tsetse flies to breed the pests into extinction. A similar technique has been used for years to combat screwworm flies along the U.S.-Mexican border.

The object is to release enough sexually sterile flies so that the reproduction cycle of the natural insects will be interrupted, thus gradually reducing their numbers.

"Eradication of the tsetse fly in Africa could open three billion acres to cattle raising, while improving human health conditions," the report said.

By comparison, the entire land area of the United States is less than 2.3 billion acres, including about 600 million acres of pasture and rangeland for livestock.

The pilot project is underway at Tanga, Tanzania, at a 15,000 head cattle

Picnic supper for outdoor concerts

A popular pastime in the summer and early fall is an outdoor concert. Whether it's rock, jazz or Beethoven's Fifth, people of all ages can be found in the local parks listening to their favorite music.

To make the afternoon or evening even more enjoyable take a basket picnic supper to the concert. The menu suggested here is cold fried chicken with coleslaw, Grape-Apple Turnovers and Icy Concord Tea. These foods are ideal for a picnic — quick to make, simple to carry and easy to eat. Grape-Apple Turnovers use frozen patty shells for the pastry and a mixture of chopped apples, grape jelly, cinnamon, lemon peel and nutmeg for the filling. Icy Concord Tea is a refreshing beverage made with grape drink, lime juice and iced tea mix and garnished with lime wedges and mint leaves.

GRAPE-APPLE TURNOVERS

1 cup finely chopped apples
1/2 cup concord grape jelly
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
Generous dash ground nutmeg
2 packages (10-ounces each) frozen patty shells, thawed in refrigerator
In a small bowl, combine apples, grape jelly, cinnamon, lemon peel and nutmeg; blend well. Roll out 1 package patty shells (keep remaining half in refrigerator) on a lightly floured board to an 8 x 16 inch rectangle. Cut into 4-inch squares. Place about 1 teaspoon fruit mixture in center of each square; fold over to form a triangle. Pinch edges to seal. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Repeat with remaining patty shells. Bake at 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes or until turnovers are puffed and golden brown. Cool on wire racks. Makes 16 turnovers.

ICY CONCORD TEA
1 quart concord grape drink, chilled
1/4 cup lime juice
2 teaspoons pre-sweetened ice tea mix
Lime wedges
Mint leaves
Combine grape drink and lime juice. Add iced tea mix and stir until dissolved. Serve in tall glasses garnished with lime wedge and mint leaves. Makes 4 servings.

Four lottery losers turn out winners

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four Cincinnati men were prepared to learn a lesson in wastefulness when they pooled their money and began buying instant lottery tickets in bulk.

Instead, they beat the odds and ended up winners of $50,000.

But they didn't strike it rich in the Ohio Lottery until they submitted their losing tickets in a special game for losers.

Their profit, however, is about $49,000, said Stuart Leventhal, who jokingly called his group "partners in crime."

Leventhal, Paul Kohrs, Harold Ketz and Anthony W. Andrews got about $12,500 each after the check arrived Thursday.

They put up $125 each in May to buy a block of $500 worth of instant lottery tickets.

"We made a little party out of it, and sat up a couple of hours one night scratching tickets" to determine winning numbers, Leventhal said.

"My neighbors would drop in occasionally to tell us what nuts we were, but when I told them (later) about the $50,000 winner they almost died," Leventhal said.

They collected $142 in winnings from the first block, then, adding more money, bought a second block of $500 worth. Those tickets netted only $149.

The used part of the winnings for postage, split the tickets four ways and mailed in one envelope each under the names of the four partners.

One wound up a $50,000 winner in the special game for losers. They did not say which.

"I've never won a thing except my lovely wife," Leventhal said.

"I think the others have already spent their $12,500. I'm going to save mine like it doesn't exist. Maybe later we'll use it to make a down payment on a house or something."

Lottery sales hit $144 million

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Lottery Director Gerald Patronite says the lottery closed out the fiscal year with total sales of $144 million, up $23 million from last year.

The lottery, which will be three years old in August, has paid $160 million to prize winners and $142 in revenue to the state treasury since it started, Patronite reported.

Set vote on neutron warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is preparing to vote on a measure that would furnish money to produce neutron warheads, designed to kill people-radiation without damaging buildings or other weapons.

The Senate put the item on its agenda for today as it continued work on the $10.3-billion public works bill containing funds for nuclear research and several controversial water projects.

President Carter is still studying whether to approve the new generation of nuclear weaponry, but an administration official said Carter wants Congress to approve the funds to give him "maximum flexibility" in making his decision.

The neutron-bomb warhead is designed to kill without inflicting widespread destruction. Its supporters say it is sufficiently small, safe and controllable so as not to risk starting a general nuclear war.

In July 17, 1938, Bolivar Dam of the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District, was dedicated, marking virtual completion of the flood-control program in the valley.—AP

It would kill people with massive doses of radiation, just as conventional nuclear weapons operate. Death could take as long as several weeks, although anyone within a half-mile of the explosion would die within a day or two.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said the matter would be taken up in closed session. Other Senate sources said this was being contemplated.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, the Oregon Republican, made a move to eliminate the neutron warhead in a public works subcommittee meeting two weeks ago. The bid was rejected.

Dodgers beat Giants, 10-5

Norman becomes winningest Reds pitcher with 2-1 victory

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Veteran southpaw Fred Norman, the Cincinnati Reds' winningest pitcher, says just missing a shutout doesn't shake his confidence.

Norman hurled his fourth complete game of the season Friday night in the Reds' 2-1 victory over the San Diego Padres.

It improved his record to 9-3 for the season, and if not for one bad pitch, it would have been a shutout.

But Padres' catcher Gene Tenace connected for his ninth homer of the season with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning.

"I had struck Tenace out with a slider earlier," said Norman. "In the ninth, I missed on a 2-2 pitch with the same pitch and then I came back 3-2 again with a slider. It broke too big and it didn't have the velocity. He got the bat on it good and hit it out."

But Norman wasn't ruffled, getting the final out to record the victory for the Reds. San Diego now has lost nine of its last 10 games.

"I'm pitching every fifth day," said Norman. "I haven't been out of the rotation since the start of the season. It's a lift to me. I'm able to maintain my confidence in myself and my pitching."

Norman apparently had the right attitude against the Padres, walking only two batters and striking out eight.

George Foster provided Norman with all the runs he needed in the third inning. Following a single by Dave Concepcion, Foster blasted his 21st home run of the season off San Diego starter Bob Shirley. The blast improved his RBI total to 71.

Norman has a career high in the majors of 13 victories. With nine wins already to his credit, this could be his best year. However, he was making no predictions.

"Hopefully, I can still maintain what I'm doing," he said. "If I can stay away from injuries and arm problems, I think I can remain consistent."

Norman has one goal in mind. "I would like to make the All-Star team. However, if I don't, I won't be unhappy."

The teams play again tonight. Rookie Paul Moskau, 0-1, is scheduled to hurl for Cincinnati against Dave Freisleban, 0-5.

Remember those magic wands the Chicago Cubs were waving earlier this season? Well, they've suddenly turned into ordinary bats.

The Cubs appear to have lost all their power in recent days—and as a result are losing some of their lead in the National League East.

"We're going through a little spell right now where everything we hit is at somebody," said Chicago pitcher Mike Krukow after a 3-1 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night. "It's a big series against St. Louis—I just wish we could play better in this park."

Not only has Busch Stadium been a recent frustration for the Cubs, but so has Olympic Stadium in Montreal. They were shut out there prior to two defeats in St. Louis and have scored a total of two runs in their last three losses.

Chicago Manager Herman Franks isn't taking it too hard, though.

"Look, we're still 6½ games in front," said Franks, whose team led by 8½ before the losing streak. "This is no funeral, you know. How can I be disappointed? We play tomorrow."

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 in 14 innings; the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the San Francisco Giants 10-5; the Cincinnati Reds nipped the San Diego Padres 2-1; the Houston Astros stopped the Atlanta Braves 3-1 and the Montreal Expos beat the New York Mets twice, 6-5 and 5-3.

Tony Scott and Ted Simmons drove in St. Louis runs in the first inning and the Cardinals added a run in the eighth, beating the Cubs behind the combined five-hit pitching of Larry Dierker and Rawly Eastwick.

Dierker withstood Bobby Murcer's leadoff triple, leading to the Cubs' run in the second inning, and extinguished two serious threats through seven innings. Eastwick took over in the eighth and blanked the Cubs without a hit in posting his ninth save.

Phillies 7, Pirates 6
Ted Sizemore capped a three-run, 14th-inning rally with an RBI single that carried Philadelphia over Pittsburgh. The Pirates had gone ahead 6-4 in the top of the 14th on Duffy Dyer's RBI double and an error by right fielder Bake McBride that allowed another run to score.

Gene Garber, 3-4, was the winner and Grant Jackson, 0-3, the loser.

Dodgers 10, Giants 5
Ron Cey's 17th home run, the highlight of a five-run fifth inning, sent Los Angeles past San Francisco. Bill Madlock connected for two home runs off the Dodgers' Doug Rau, 8-1, including a three-run drive in the third for the game's first runs. Madlock's second homer came in the sixth with the bases empty.

Reggie Smith had four hits for the Dodgers, while Cey and Steve Yeager each drove in three runs. Yeager, who had a triple and double, left the game after being struck by a foul tip in the sixth.

Astros 3, Braves 1
J.R. Richard and Joe Niekro combined for a four-hitter, leading Houston over Atlanta. Richard, 7-6, gave up all the Atlanta hits before needing relief in the ninth inning when he allowed the first two batters to reach base. Before that, Houston's starting pitcher never was in trouble, except for the fifth, when a double by Rowland Office drove in Atlanta's only run.

Expos 6-5, Mets 5-3
Tony Perez hit a two-run, tie-breaking homer in the sixth inning to help Montreal beat New York in the first game of their two-night doubleheader.

The Expos hung on to win the second game after Andre Dawson rapped a two-run, tie-breaking homer in the sixth.

White Sox back in first place

Zisk spreads playoff fever

Richie Zisk knows what it's like to be in the playoffs. And he's trying to teach his teammates how to get there.

When the Chicago White Sox obtained Zisk from Pittsburgh in the off-season, they knew he was a winner after having played on three divisional titlists with the Pirates. Now Zisk is instilling that positive attitude in the White Sox.

"I think our guys are getting the feeling of what it's like to be in the playoffs," Zisk said Friday after the White Sox moved back into first place in the American League West with a 5-2 triumph over Minnesota. "That was real playoff atmosphere out there."

A crowd of 35,709 turned out and saw Zisk blast two home runs and drive in all five runs for the Sox. The fans chanted, "We're No. 1" throughout the ninth inning.

If the Sox continue to get pitching like Chris Knapp's nine-hitter, they certainly will be in good shape. Knapp, 7-4, got a boost right away when Zisk slammed a three-run homer in the first inning off loser Dave Goltz, 8-5.

Major league batting leader Rod Carew had a triple and single in five at bats and remained at .411.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland shut out California 2-0 behind Vida Blue, Kansas City bombed Cleveland 12-2, Milwaukee edged Seattle 2-1, Baltimore topped Boston 8-2, handing the Red Sox their seventh straight defeat, Detroit beat New York 5-1 and Texas outslugged Toronto 11-8.

A's 2, Angels 0
Blue, 6-9, pitched a five-hitter to win his 12th straight game at Anaheim Stadium and the A's seventh in eight games with California this season. Blue hasn't lost in Anaheim since July 20, 1969, his major league debut. He didn't credit his fastball nor his curve nor the excellent fielding of his teammates for the streak.

Manny Sanguillen had three hits and Tony Armas a solo homer to support Blue.

Brewers 2, Mariners 1
Rookie Moose Haas was glad to see July. Haas, 5-5, was 0-3 with a 7.72 earned run average in June but he pitched a fine four-hitter and struck out eight against the Mariners.

Sixto Lezcano's solo home run in the fourth inning won the game for Milwaukee.

Orioles 8, Red Sox 2
Doug DeCinces' two two-run homers and Jim Palmer's seven-hitter carried Baltimore past slumping Boston and within 212 games of the first place Red Sox.

The Red Sox had bombed Palmer for nine home runs in his last two appearances against them, but the 1976 Cy Young Award winner was in control Friday. He struck out seven and walked three in snapping the Orioles' 11-game losing string against Boston.

Royals 12, Indians 2
Kansas City moved within 212 games of first place in the AL West as Joe Zdeb smashed five hits and had four runs batted in, including a three-run homer in the fifth.

Marty Pattin, 2-2, replaced starter Paul Splittorff with none out and Cleveland ahead 2-0 in the first inning.

Milwaukee Open in four-way tie

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The leader board told a half-truth.

Accurately enough, it showed a four-way first place deadlock. Gary McCord, Fuzzy Zoeller, Mike Morley and rookie Keith Fergus all shot three-under-par 69s Friday and were one stroke ahead of Mac McLendon, Ed Sabo and Barney Thompson going into today's second round of the $130,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

But what the board didn't reflect were vicious crosswinds which gusted to 37 m.p.h. much of the day and turned the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course, normally a touring pro's delight, into a nightmare.

Each of the day's top seven finishers except McLendon played their rounds in the afternoon, during which the southwest gales gradually shifted to the northwest and tapered to 27 m.p.h. Most of the bigger names have skipped this tournament to prepare for next week's British Open.

Two-time Milwaukee winner Dave Stockton and 1971 champ Dave Eichelberger were at 71, along with Dave Lundstrom, Stanton Lee and Frank Beard.

Among the 12 who matched par was Lee Trevino, former U.S. Open and British Open and PGA champion. Considering the elements, it was one of Trevino's best rounds since his surgery for a herniated disc last November.

Trevino, while elated over his round, said he isn't sure that if he makes today's cut he will have enough stamina for Sunday's scheduled 36-hole windup, necessitated because rain Thursday postponed the first round by a day.

The 12 scores under par contrasted with the first round here last year when 52 golfers shattered par and 26 of those, led by Ken Still at 64, were in the 60s.

San Francisco University led the major schools in winning percentage in basketball in the 1976-77 campaign with a 29-2 record for .935.

Connors meets Borg today

Wade wins at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — 4 years of trying, and losing to inferior opponents and her own nerves, a new-look Virginia Wade finally has won the Wimbledon singles crown in front of her queen and her own home crowd.

With a new hairstyle and a new relaxed temperament, she beat Betty Stove of The Netherlands 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 Friday to add the Wimbledon title to the ones she already has won in the U.S., Italian and Australian opens.

Jimmy Connors, the 1974 Wimbledon champion, was to meet defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden today in the men's final.

The Wimbledon crowd has called her "Ginny" since, as a lithe 17-year-old, her hair in a pony tail, she first appeared at Wimbledon in 1964, the year Maria Bueno won the third of her titles.

For the past 10 years she's been in the seedings. But only once before has she reached the semifinals—never the finals.

Miss Wade dispelled any doubts in the semifinal, when she beat Chris Evert, the defending champion.

And in the final against Miss Stove, she fought back tenaciously after losing the first set and standing level 3-3 in the second.

The match started badly for Miss Wade but well for Miss Stove, the first girl from The Netherlands ever to reach a singles final here. Miss Stove, plagued by a series of nine double faults in the match, was picking up points by loping to the net and volleying well.

It brought her the first set at 6-4 as Miss Wade could not pass her at the net or draw her back with lobs.

But midway through the second set, the pattern changed. Miss Stove had just cancelled out an earlier Wade service break by breaking back in the fifth game to make it 2-3 and then 3-3. Miss Wade held for 4-3, then suddenly got another break, to 15, in the eighth game, and held service for the set.

R. E. Brewer wins

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — R.E. Brewer turned it on after dropping back to fourth at the 3-4 pole and won the featured $1,000 mile trot at Latonia by six lengths at Latonia on Friday night.

The winner paid 8.20, $4 and $2.80. Waterloos placed, $4 and $2.80 and Adorable Countess, third, $3.20.

The 4-8 double of Christy Baer and Kims Knight was worth $55.

Scenting victory, she streaked off to a 3-0 lead in the final set with a couple of breaks.

Miss Stove fought hard to win the third game, but a tragic double fault—her ninth—gave it to Miss Wade.

Local horses fare well

Two locally-owned horses fared well at Ottawa yesterday. A two-year-old filly trotter, Singles Hija, won its first heat in a time of 2:14.2 and then finished fourth in the second heat.

The filly, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Kelley and driven by Richard Kelley, Jr., paid $35.80, $6.60 and $2.80 in its winning effort.

American Chad, a two-year-old colt pacer, also finished first and fourth in two separate heats at Ottawa. The colt turned in a time of 2:09 in its winning jaunt.

The Charles Ellis owned horse paid $16.40, $4.20 and $3 in the winning race with Richard Kelley Jr. in the sulky.
